Two workshops entitled "IRS Tax / Institutes" will be offered by the Center for Continuing Education and Summer Programs (CCESP) of the University of Montana and the Internal Revenue Service in Great Falls and Missoula this November.

Applications will be accepted on a pre-registration basis only. Applications may be obtained by writing the CCESP at 107 Main Hall, University of Montana, Missoula, Mont. 59812, or by phoning 243-2900.

A $15 non-refundable deposit to cover the cost of the workbook is due with the pre-registration form by Sept. 2. The balance of $15 will be due by October 20.

The two-day institutes will be held in Great Falls from Nov. 14-15 at the Rainbow Hotel, 20 Third Ave. North, and in Billings from Nov. 28-29 at the Ramada Inn, I-90 and Muldowney Lane.

Among the topics to be included in the institutes are the 1977 tax clarification law, investment tax credit, pension and annuity income, comprehensive farm problems and 1977 tax reporting implications of the 1976 Tax Reform Act.

Recognized as continuing professional education for Montana / practitioners, each institute participant will receive a continuing education report form to be filed for permanent record with the Montana State Board of Public Accountants. Also, participants may receive 1.5 continuing education units from UM at a cost of $20.

The institutes will be conducted by IRS technical personnel and will utilize the 1977 Income Tax School Workbook.
